CHARDONNAY

DISCOVER A NEW REGION

Chardonnay, the quintessential white grape, is a true chameleon—reflecting both its terroir and the winemaker's touch. While Australia and Burgundy lead the way, the selections below highlight other regions where this versatile variety also shines. Champagne, yes makes still wines that brings elegance and tension. Italian Chardonnay often steers toward a leaner, crisper style. The USA—particularly California—delivers rich, full-bodied expressions, while New Zealand offers bright, vibrant examples with a hallmark of freshness.

CHARDONNAY - CHABLIS

Chablis is renowned for producing some of the world's finest expressions of Chardonnay. These wines are celebrated for their crisp purity and distinctive minerality, a signature of the region's unique Kimmeridgian soil—rich with 150-million-year-old fossilized oyster shells.

COTEAUX CHAMPENOIS, FRANCE

Coteaux Champenois is Champagne's still wine secret—no bubbles, just pure expressions of the region's famed terroir. Made in tiny quantities, these wines are bright, elegant, and a rare treat for those curious to taste Champagne stripped back to its core.
